'Private streets' debated

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Proposals to restrict use of public streets in several neighborhoods were intensely debated at Tuesday's City Council meeting.

Sixth Ward Alderwoman Judy Whitaker presented two ordinances before the council that would outlaw "through" traffic in a section of Westmorland Drive and would make Westmorland one-way from Keith Drive southward. The latter proposal was enacted.

The first proposal was placed on a first reading. It specified that cars could not drive through the area.

Whitaker, whose ward encompasses Westmorland Drive, said residents have complained the street is used as a short-cut for people leaving town after work.

"It (traffic) gets heavier every day" on the street, Whitaker said.

taker said. She said increased traffic presents a danger to children playing in the area and that the residents pay high property taxes and should be allowed to restrict use of Westmorland Drive.

Another ordinance, supported by 4th Ward Alderwoman Dan Partney, would restrict parking on Fehling Road to residents only, from its intersection with Yale Drive to Bradley Avenue. It was put on first reading.

Partney said residents on Fehling Road who live near the high school often cannot find a parking place in front of their homes and have their driveways blocked on nights of high school sports events. He also said students who park on the road tend to litter in the area.

Seventh Ward Alderman Jeff Worthen said Whitaker's proposal would create a private street out of Westmorland Drive.

"It's a private street essentially," Worthen said of Whitaker's no-through-traffic plan. "We're setting a precedent that I don't want to be a part of."

Second Ward Alderman Jim Miller also said he thought Whitaker's proposal created a private street and said that, if the proposal passed, he would propose similar ordinances for some streets in his ward.

"Private areas do enhance the value of the property. There are valid reasons for doing it," Miller said.

Third Ward Alderman Paul Fisk accused Partney and Whitaker of restricting use of public roads only in areas with high-priced homes.

"I don't care if it's just a $20,000 home. I don't give a damn who they are. They are just as good as anyone else," Fisk said.

Partney denied the accusation and said any neighborhood should be allowed to restrict use

Brighter alley lights for Venice

By Ruth Young
Correspondent

VENICE — The City Council on Tuesday night unanimously passed a resolution authorizing Illinois Power Co. to upgrade the city's 91 alley lights.

They will provide 83 percent more light.

The council approved one option of a two-option plan presented by Cleveland Sebree, service area engineer for IP. Instead of the present incandescent lights (five of 4,000 lumens and 86 of 6,000), 11,000-lumen mercury vapor lights will be installed.

Mayor Tyrone Echols said, "The timing of upgrading the lights is excellent because in the next couple of months it will get darker earlier because of (the end of) daylight saving time."

Alderman Silver Franklin said, "The extra light in the alleys will help to deter crime."

Currently the city is paying IP $446 per month for the use of the 91 lights (half of the $892 charge, as outlined in IP's Venice franchise).

After the existing lights have been converted, Venice will pay an additional $54 per month (half of the $108 difference between $892 and $1,000).

Sebree said the maximum time required to install the lighting is seven weeks.

His other proposal, high-pressure sodium lights, would have cost $843 monthly and provided 150 percent more light (15,000 lumens).

Masked men rob Lee's

Two men wearing masks entered through a rear door of Lee's Famous Recipe Chicken, 3316 Nameoki Road, and took $235 at gunpoint at 10:46 p.m. Wednesday.

One of the pair flourished a revolver and demanded all the money in the restaurant.

The man with the gun then struck the shift manager, William Lucas, on the head with the gun and led him to the dining room area, where he was ordered to lie down.

The two then fled on foot east to Lindell Boulevard, where they entered an orange Firebird or Trans Am car with Illinois registration.

The men were described as Caucasian, about 19 years old, with one about 5 foot 7 inches, 135 pounds and blond hair, and the other about 5-11, 160 and dark brown hair.

Lucas, of Alton, said the restaurant was not open at the time but declined to answer any other questions. David Little, the manager, could not be reached.

Allen will reveal test probe Friday

GRANITE CITY — The State Police Department's Division of Criminal Investigation has completed its investigation into scores on a police sergeant test and tests for firefighters, Madison County State's Attorney Dick Allen said Monday.

Though Allen has received the results of the investigation, he said he still wants more information from the testing company located in Virginia and expects to receive the information by Friday. Allen said he will then reveal the results of the investigation.

The investigation began in April and has included interviews with Granite City police and, more recently, firefighters. Two police officers scored first and second in the nation on a police sergeant test in July 1985.

Coil again damages city property

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — A steel coil fell from a tractor-trailer truck at 20th Street and Madison Avenue, damaging the sidewalk and curb at the southwest corner of the intersection at 1:40 p.m. Monday.

The incident makes the second time this year a heavy coil has fallen from a truck and damaged city property. In March, a coil fell and damaged a section of the 19th Street overpass.

In the 20th Street accident, Bart Mercer, of 19 Gerogotown Drive, driver for Tri City Transportation, 2209 Mockingbird Lane, was traveling south across Madison Avenue at 20th Street with the green light.

A red tractor-trailer truck, going north, made a left turn onto Madison Avenue from 20th Street. Mercer said he stopped to avoid a collision and the stress caused the bands holding the steel to break, according to a Granite City police report.

The 20th Street route is used frequently by trucks hauling the coils from Granite City Steel.

Granite City safety officer Dick Portell said the city normally seeks reimbursement for damages from the trucking company involved in a coil accident.

Portell said no damage estimates have been made on the overpass or the sidewalk and curb at 20th Street. He said Street Superintendent Mac Warfield will repair the damage and estimate the cost in labor and materials to the city.

Portell said he received a letter last fall from Granite City Steel informing the city that the trucking companies were warned to follow Illinois Department of Transportation specifications on transporting the coils, which weigh at least 37,000 pounds each.

Portell said the coil that fell on the overpass was not "double chained" as required by IDOT but the one that fell near 20th Street was double-chained, though the chains snapped when the coil slid off the bed.

Portell said the coils fall because of sudden stops and other traffic mishaps, and not from being tied down improperly.

He said the city only regulates truck routes and not hauling specifications.

Harris resigns from police department

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Former Police Chief Bill Harris has resigned from the Granite City Police Department.

In a letter which was read at Tuesday's City Council meeting, Harris cited his "deep devotion to law" and announced his retirement.

"I have thoroughly relished my opportunity to be a police officer ... It is only with this deep devotion to the law, a sincere affection for the people of Granite City, and a profound appreciation for my vocation as a police officer that I announce my retirement. The time has come for me to move on," Harris said.

Harris, 47, was a 23-year veteran of the force. He resigned as police chief July 21 at the request of Mayor Von Dee Cruse.

Harris has said he resigned as chief to heal divisions within the department. His resignation came amid allegations of police misconduct and days after the police union voted 38-0 in a "no-confidence" vote up in Harris.

He had moved up in rank over the years and was appointed chief by Cruse in 1983.

In recent weeks, Harris used vacation time while deciding whether to retire from the department. He will receive a pension upon his retirement.

Harris did not say what his future plans are.

He also resigned as a board member of the regional crime investigation unit, the Major Case Squad. Police Chief Bob Astorian said he has been approached about being on the board.

"I have been asked if I would accept it," Astorian said. The Major Case Squad board is expected to replace Harris at its October meeting.

Candidates file for three school elections

School board candidates in Granite City, Madison and Venice began filing petitions Monday for a place on the Nov. 3 ballot.

In Granite City, 11 people filed as of Wednesday at the board office, 20th and Adams streets.

Board members Kelly Hogan, president, Jo Ann Macios, secretary, and Dewey Melton filed petitions along with Paul Ray Bowler, Roy Koberna, Robert Bell, Robert Douglas, Marty LeVault, Rose Schwager, Gus

Falter and Beverly Schutzenhofer.

All candidates filed for a four-year term except for LeVault, who filed for the unexpired two-year term of Jerry McKechan. Macios was appointed to that seat following McKechan's resignation.

Terms of board members Hogan, Melton and David Partney expire in November.

No tall tale

MAN-SIZE SUNFLOWER: Oscar Grizzard, who lives on West 20th Street, shows off a single sunflower bloom in front of the 9-foot stalk from which it was cut. Not counting the already wilted petals, the center portion of the flower measured 18 inches across, made up of thousands of seeds. Grizzard also grew several other sunflowers, but none as big as the one above.

Allows joint funding of road interchanges

Signed into law Aug. 13, House Bill 1299 allows county governments to participate in cooperative funding for highway interchange construction projects.

The law recognizes that interchanges do not necessarily have to be in a county to provide that county with strategic access and provide greater economic development opportunities for the entire region.

Deadline delayed on waste hazard storage

The Illinois Pollution Control Board has granted Tara Corp. Industries of Madison County a 30-day provisional variance to allow on-site storage of hazardous waste beyond a 90-day deadline.

This action, docketed PCB 87-120, was taken by the board upon notification by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency that compliance with the 90-day on-site deadline of the board's hazardous waste regulations would impose an arbitrary or unreasonable hardship on Tara. The provisional variance extends from July 24 to Aug. 24.

IP to change rates

GRANITE CITY — Illinois Power Co. filed a petition with the Illinois Commerce Commission Aug. 13 to reduce summer electricity rates for residential customers.

The utility is asking for summer rates to be reduced by two cents per kilowatt hour, to 7.45 cents from 9.45 cents. The reduction would be retroactive to June 15, when the higher summer rates took effect.

The company also proposed to increase winter rates to 6.5 cents per kilowatt hour from 5 cents per kilowatt hour for the first 1,000 kilowatts of usage.

BAC bill supported

GRANITE CITY — Local support for the recently passed BAC bill has reached Gov. Jim Thompson.

The bill would allow voters to elect BAC trustees by subdistricts instead of on an at-large basis. The proposal passed the Illinois Senate and House in June.

Two hundred letters from area residents supporting the proposal were received by the governor.

Large hall sought

PONTOON BEACH — Plans to purchase larger quarters for the central office building and police department in Pontoon Beach were initiated at the Aug. 11 board meeting.

President Glen Wilson was authorized by resolution to begin negotiations leading to the purchase of Comfort Air Conditioning and Heating Inc. property at 3344 Illinois 111. The estimated cost of the building was set at $210,000 and includes a 7,300 square foot building on a 2.2 acre tract of land. Comfort will remain in business.

Heads United campaign

GRANITE CITY — Darryl Slater, general chairman of the Tri-Cities Area United Way campaign opening Sept. 10, has been active in the United Way for 10 years.

He is corporate secretary of M.C. Slater Inc. and president of Dial Motor-Transit Inc.

Strike stops work

GRANITE CITY — A strike stopped work Monday on a city sewer lift station project at Wayne and St. Clair avenues.

Operating engineers Local 520 in Granite City is on strike against C.D. Peters Construction Co. as a result of the expiration of a contract on July 31, said Jim Peters.

Area schools will open

QUAD-CITY — Area schools, both public and parochial, will begin the fall session next week at various dates and times, with most of the schools opening on Tuesday.

New street sweeper

GRANITE CITY — The city may get a new street sweeper, despite knocking a new sweeper out of the new budget. Though some aldermen wanted to include a sweeper in the 1987-88 budget, the City Council's Finance Committee eliminated it and other items to assure that the new budget, adopted in July, was balanced.

Fifth Ward Alderman Jake Varadian, chairman of the finance panel, said the committee agreed to allow bids to be let and said the city could acquire a sweeper once the bids are in.

He said the purchase of the sweeper, which is estimated to cost about $65,000, would not affect the non-street portion of the budget.

Schuman new principal

GRANITE CITY — Pat Schuman of Granite City was appointed Grigby Junior High School principal by District 9. Before serving in his last post of assistant principal at Granite City High School, he was assistant principal at Grigsby.

4 file to be trustees

BELLEVIEWE — Four people, including two incumbent board members, filed petitions this week to be candidates for Belleville Area College's Board of Trustees.

Board members Frances Braswell, of Belleville, and Elizabeth Jenner, of Mascoutah, filed along with George "Red" Farmer and Dan Wolford, both of Belleville.

Braswell, Jenner and Farmer each filed for a six-year board term. Wolford filed to serve for two years.

Terms of board members Braswell, Jenner, Wayne Reynolds, board president, and Leo Konzen, of Granite City, expire in November.

Braswell has served on the board since 1985.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Frequently parents will contact this office and indicate that their child has been hurt at school. They wonder if the school district is liable for injuries sustained by the child during normal school hours. The answer to this question depends upon the circumstances surrounding the accident.

Teachers, school officials and school districts generally will be held liable for personal injuries sustained by students during school activities only if there is willful and wanton misconduct. Willful and wanton misconduct is defined as intentional or that act taken in reckless disregard of the consequences. When teachers are exercising disciplinary and supervisory authority, they will not be subject to ordinary negligence actions.

In one recent case, a fourth grader was in a school gymnasium with the rest of his class practicing for a Christmas program. The class was dismissed from the gym and told to return to the classroom. The fourth grade teacher told the pupils to get a drink, go to the restroom, and then return to their seats in the classroom. The teacher stood in an area between the classroom and the restrooms to watch the children in both directions. One boy, who was among the first to return to the classroom, tripped and was hit in the eye with another student's pencil. The boy eventually lost sight in his eye.

The boy brought suit against the teacher and the school district alleging willful and wanton misconduct in connection with his injury. The jury returned a verdict in favor of the school district and the teacher. The plaintiff then took the case on appeal.

The Appellate Court noted that the plaintiff was unsupervised in the classroom for a period of five to ten minutes because the teacher was in the hallway. In this case, the fourth grade teacher was standing 15 to 20 feet outside the classroom door watching as best she could both the children in the classroom and those getting water and using the restroom. The Appellate Court felt that she could not be in both places at once and that she was merely following her normal course of conduct. The Court noted that there was no evidence of willful and wanton misconduct on the part of the defendants since the teacher cannot be expected to supervise each and every child at all times while in school.

Officers are hit three times after traffic stop

Robert D. Niemeyer, 25, of 4 Nicholas Lane, was booked on two counts of battery and one count of resisting arrest after he allegedly hit an officer who had stopped him to issue a speeding ticket.

Niemeyer was halted at Sixth Street and Madison Avenue, Madison, after he allegedly turned south on State Street at 15th Street at a high rate of speed at 12:32 a.m. Aug. 14. At the Granite City police station, Niemeyer allegedly again hit an officer.

A third count of battery was added at 7:30 a.m. Niemeyer was making a phone call from police headquarters and allegedly was arguing and cursing the person on the other end. He was cautioned by an officer and then was told to put the phone down.

At that point, Niemeyer allegedly walked up to the booking window, put down the phone and struck the officer in the face with his hand. Force was needed to return him to the jail cell, a report noted. He was released on bail.

Boat operators banned on drinking convictions

House Bill 2202, just signed, keeps individuals convicted of operating a motorboat under the influence (OUI) off the state's recreational boating waters.

The law now requires circuit courts in counties to report to the Illinois Department of Conservation the names of individuals who are convicted of OUI offenses. That will allow the department to monitor and enforce suspensions or revocations involving motorboat operation.

The legislation takes effect Jan. 1, 1988.

BART SOLON President

Q: I thought the interest on Series E and EE U.S. Savings Bonds was computed from the date they were purchased to the day they are redeemed. Now, I understand that the process is more complicated than that. Could you explain how this interest is figured?

A: Until Series E and EE U.S. Savings bonds are 18 months old, they are credited with interest on the first of each month. If, for example, you redeemed a bond after 12 months on any day except the first of the month, no interest would be paid for that period between the first and the date of redemption. After the bond had reached 18 months maturity, interest is credited twice a year, every six months from the date of issue. Therefore, you could forfeit as much as six months' interest by redeeming your bond just one day before the crediting date. Generally speaking, of course the longer you hold the bond, the more interest it will earn. However, always check the dates and the rules before redeeming bonds.

Bluegill now state fish

Last November, school children from across Illinois elected the bluegill as the official Illinois state fish in an exercise intended to be both fun and educational. Since then, the State Board of Elections has certified the vote, and a law signed Aug. 14 makes it a part of the state statutes and allows Illinois to join the 29 other states that boast an official fish.

Candidates not previously interviewed will be interviewed Tuesday, Walmsley said. Order was interviewed last week for the principalship of Grigsby Junior High School. The board appointed Pat Schuman to that position.

The Coolidge post became vacant in June when Alfred Wilson was re-assigned as an elementary principal. He was assigned to be principal of Mitchell Elementary School on Aug. 4. The high school job was assigned to Schuman because Grigsby principal.

Three honorably dismissed teachers, Ron Coleman, Beverly Postay and Judy Chapman, were rehired by the board Tuesday.

Coleman will teach physical education at Wilson Elementary School. Postay will be a science teacher at the high school and Chapman will be assigned to Marshall Elementary School's transition room, Walmsley said.

Rick Talley was employed as a special education teacher to serve at both Grigsby and Coolidge.

Proposal to create private streets debated of its streets if there is a good reason to do so.

City Attorney Mark Goldenberger said he researched the legality of restrictions and concluded that such an ordinance would be "subject to challenge" but that there is legal precedent for traffic restriction.

Police Chief Bob Astorjian said it would be difficult to enforce but could be enforced by matching license plate numbers of cars on the streets to addresses of homeowners.

In a 7-6 vote, the council agreed to put Whitaker's ordinance to a public hearing on Tuesday to hear testimony on first reading. Earlier in the meeting, rule suspension and final passage failed on the same 7-6 vote; two-thirds approval was required.

The council will vote on final passage at the Aug. 25 meeting.

Whitaker's one-way proposal was adopted, 13-0.

Infant thrown from car doing better

Four-month-old infant Jordan M. Stoklosa is "holding his own" after he was thrown from a car.

from a driverless automobile that dragged his aunt more than 50 feet across a parking lot.

"We thank God he's alive," said Joann Hoffman, grandmother of the baby, who is the son of Bobby Murray, 2304 Terminal Ave., and Dawn Stoklosa, of Cahokia.

Jordan is in Cardinal Glennon Memorial Hospital for Children, St. Louis, where he is listed in "fair and stable condition" after receiving 200 stitches to his mouth and face.

He also suffered a hairline fracture of the skull.

"He's really doing a lot better than expected," his grandmother said.

According to earlier reports, Pamela Hoffman, 17, who was holding the baby, had jumped from the car after it suddenly began moving backward after it was left running in a parked position, at the Amoco Station, 1965 Madison Ave. The driver, the baby's father, had gone into the station to buy soda and cigarettes.

"It (the car) had moved on its own," said Pamela Hoffman, who had been in the passenger seat. She said she tried to put the gear lever back into park, but could not. "So I tried to turn the car off, but it picked up speed. The door opened and threw both me and the baby out."

"My leg was caught up under the door," Hoffman said. "The car dragged me from where it was parked until the time it stopped."

The car left the Amoco lot, crossed an alley and continued west into the parking lot of Quality Oil Change, 1421 20th St. It stopped when it hit a parked car.

"She didn't know where the baby went to," Joann Hoffman said of her daughter. "She kept saying, 'Where's the baby? Where's the baby?'"

The teen-ager received stitches for a facial cut and was treated for friction burns and bruises.

Murray had been unaware of the accident until a man placed his bleeding infant on the counter of the gas station before an ambulance arrived.

Jordan will have to undergo plastic surgery before he will be released from the hospital in about two months, his grandmother said.

"He's going to have to be in there (hospital) quite a while," she said.

Banks to merge

By Bill Winter
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Without opposition, shareholders of First Granite Bancorporation Inc. voted Tuesday to merge their two banks into Magna Group Inc., a Belleville-based bank holding company.

First Granite has assets of $184 million, and with the merger Magna will total $1.65 billion. A $2 billion total is expected by the end of this year, including pending mergers in Wood River, Bloomington and Macomb.

It was the final meeting of their shareholders, but First Granite City National Bank and the Colonial Bank of Granite City will retain their local officers and boards of directors. First Bank was established here in 1902.

Completion of the merger is subject to approval by the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis and the Illinois commissioner of banks and trust companies. The effective date will be within 30 business days of the last of the approvals.

The local holding company's president, Melvin C. Wilmsmeyer, presided and its vice president, Thomas E. Holloway, served as secretary. William S. Bedgley, Magna chairman and president, was among the several dozen persons attending.

Of the 675,000 First Granite shares, 565,743 were represented at the meeting and 559,473 were voted affirmatively.

"Increased stock value and marketability, and expanded customer services" were predicted by Wilmsmeyer at the meeting.

"The 'economies of scale' associated with such a merger are very real in this industry," narrated photo slides on Magna emphasized that "we invest our funds where we get those funds — in our neighborhoods." Magna seeks to serve a wide geographic area in central and southern Illinois, officials said.

George T. Wilkins Jr., a medical doctor, is to be elected to the Magna board of directors. He is the largest First Granite stock owner.

First Granite is to become a wholly-owned subsidiary of Magna, with each share of its common stock exchanged for 2.175 shares of Magna common stock. No fractional shares will be issued; cash will be paid in lieu of fractional shares.

Magna stock is traded in the over-the-counter market and its quotations are reported on the National Market System of the National Association of Securities Dealers Automated Quotations System (NASDAQ).

Magna owns all the capital stock of 13 banks, a trust company, a mortgage company and a data processing company, located in this metropolitan area and in the Centerville, Decatur and Springfield areas. Its subsidiary banks operate from 33 locations and the headquarters address is No. 19 Public Square, Belleville.

On June 12, 1987, Magna announced it is offering to the public $200 million in convertible subordinated capital notes.

Those favoring the merger said the local banks will have "greater flexibility in meeting customers' needs."

"They will be able to offer such services as a full line of trust, discount, brokerage, credit card, loan and automatic teller services in a more cost-effective manner."

There was unanimous support by the First Granite Bancorporation members: Wilmsmeyer, Holloway, Dr. Wilkins, John W. Reese, Sam E. Pershall Jr., Joseph Glick and Carl A. Rant.

Drowning victim identified

The body of a man found floating Friday afternoon in Tower Lake at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has been identified as Murad Kamaludin, 23, a native of Malaysia who formerly was enrolled at SIUE.

University Police said positive identification was secured through a thumb print which was compared with Malaysian visa records. Madison County Coroner Dallas Burke said the death was accidental, caused by drowning.

It was estimated that the body had been in the lake two or three days before it was discovered at 3 p.m. Aug. 14 by a student worker looking for debris near the shoreline of the Heating and Refrigeration Plant, on the southwest side of the lake.

University Police were assisted in the investigation by the Illinois State Crime Laboratory. The body was taken to Wood River Hospital initially and later to Weber Funeral Home for an autopsy. Police said there was no evidence of foul play.

Burial is planned in Malaysia.

"BIG ENOUGH TO SHARE"

Regional

Just a Bohemian at heart

There has been speculation that James R. Thompson, our only four-term governor, won't seek a fifth term. Instead, the reasoning goes, he will try for the United States presidency at some point before he reaches Ronald Reagan's present age. Well, you are reading it here first. He is going to run for the White House.

Our evidence is this: Big Jim is just back from camping at Bohemian Grove in California.

Many people believe there is an inner circle of influential people who must approve before someone garners a major party's presidential nomination.

They also think that the inner circle, if it exists, makes its decisions on personal observation of possible candidates while they are at Bohemian Grove. Jim says the 2,700-acre estate in the redwoods region is owned by the exclusive Bohemian Club of San Francisco. It is an all-male retreat, shrouded in secrecy, visited by leading government officials and executives of large businesses.

The Los Angeles Times didn't break the Gary Hart story, but it has uncovered a few details about Bohemian Grove.

The visitors sleep in cabins or tents; drink at outdoor bars set up in the woods; participate in skinny-dip swimming, tell naughty jokes, exchange nostalgic tales; hatch a few political deals; and watch act in amateur plays, with men portraying both men and women, attired appropriately. (Donna Rice and all other females are banned.)

The campers also don red-hooded robes for the burning of an effigy called "Dull Care" in front of a 40-foot-tall figure of an owl.

Now you know how presidents are chosen.

Of 14 presidential hopefuls for 1988 (Thompson isn't included), only Democrat Jesse Jackson and Republican George Bush gained 10 percent or more support in a survey by the AFL-CIO's largest union.

Jackson, Bush and 11 others triggered overall negative reactions from members of the United Food and Commercial Workers Union.

Republican Bob Dole avoided a negative reaction, finishing "dead even." But he is "dead" in the parent AFL-CIO group's viewpoint. In March, Dole said he would filibuster against a Senate bill that would curb increased use of non-union construction workers.

Caterpillar Inc., the giant Peoria firm, has encountered unexpected labor strife at three of its foreign plants, in Canada, England and Scotland.

Other Illinois corporate news includes the Magnet Wire court case. In 1985, five executives of the Chicago firm were charged with 52 counts of aggravated battery and reckless conduct for job-related injuries and illnesses suffered by 40 employees.

At issue is whether a company should be penalized, or whether some of its key people can be held personally liable. Being locked up behind prison bars obviously would affect one personally.

The case was set for trial, but a judge dismissed the indictments. Later, the appellate court said Illinois cannot prosecute the case under state statutes because the company is regulated by federal law.

It's in the news this month because Cook County State's Attorney Richard Daley, son of the late Chicago Mayor Richard Daley, has asked the Illinois Supreme Court to rule on the case.

At its next meeting on Aug. 24, the Republican Assembly of Illinois will hold a panel discussion about the pending nomination of a U.S. Supreme Court justice.

What caught our eye was the title of the discussion: "Is Bork better or worse than his bite?"

Particularly since it acquired Ozark Airlines, TWA has been dominant at Lambert Airport; it controls more than three-fourths of the flights. Now, TWA is closing its pilot bases at Kansas City and Chicago. With more flights set to begin and end here, hundreds of pilots will be moving to the bi-state metropolitan area.

Views differ widely on electric rates.

Tim Earley of the Illinois Public Action Council is urging that Collinsville end its franchise with Illinois Power Co.

Ron Daine, IP service area manager for the territory that includes Granite City and Collinsville, says that of the 50 leading power utilities in the United States, only 15 have lower rates than IP; 35 have higher rates.

Collinsville Mayor Gene Brombolich, who has an all-electric home, says he doesn't like paying higher rates, but he would hate for the quality and dependability of electric service to suffer if rates are held down too stringently.

Aug. 31 license deadline

Passenger car owners who have license plates expiring in August should buy their renewal stickers at a Secretary of State facility or a bank, Secretary of State Jim Edgar said.

It is now too late to send applications by mail and receive stickers before the Aug. 31 expiration date.

"The new, red sticker is attached to the back of the ID card," Edgar said.

"Simply peel it off and place it over the current sticker at the bottom of the rear plate," the secretary of state said.

More than 570,000 pre-printed renewal applications have been mailed to passenger car owners who renew their stickers in August.

Paramedics to be told if patients have AIDS

Effective Jan. 1, 1988, a new Illinois law provides a safeguard for emergency health personnel from acquiring contagious diseases such as hepatitis or AIDS. It will require hospitals to notify paramedics or ambulance personnel of a patient who has been diagnosed as having a dangerous communicable or infectious disease and requires the Department of Public Health to provide a list of such reportable diseases.

"Paramedics and ambulance personnel put their lives on the line everyday to protect the lives of others and they deserve a reasonable degree of protection from communicable diseases," said Gov. James Thompson. "This bill provides basic protection for these people without endangering the rights of patients with infectious or communicable diseases."

In addition, the bill requires hospitals to send a confidential medical report within 72 hours after a confirmed diagnosis of listed diseases. A provision within the bill requires paramedics to be notified of the status of an AIDS patient only if there is a reasonable possibility of contact with blood or body fluid of the patients.

SIU helping China study highway woes

Dr. James E. Aaron, coordinator of the Southern Illinois University at Carbondale Safety Center, has returned from a 23-day trip to China, where he served as a member of an official American delegation invited by the Ministry of Public Security of the People's Republic of China.

The 14-member delegation met with transportation and highway safety officials in four cities to exchange technical information and to study highway transportation system problems and highway safety programs.

Visited were Beijing, Nanjing, Chengdu and Guangzhou.

He said one of the primary missions was to collect data and observe traffic operations in an effort to analyze the extent of each city's accident problems and make recommendations to assist in alleviating those problems.

The U.S. delegation was composed of highway safety experts, researchers, traffic engineers, and accident data analysts. Aaron presented a paper on "A Perspective on Traffic Education and Training."

He said, "It was a great experience in a country that is trying to avoid mistakes in the development of a viable highway system."

River usage panel sought

By David Rocks
FBI Washington bureau

WASHINGTON — Sen. Paul Simon, D-Ill., has introduced a bill that would provide funds for a new commission to study future commercial and recreational uses of the Mississippi River.

The bill would authorize $500,000 yearly for three years to establish the Mississippi River National Heritage Corridor Commission. The commission would consist of 101 members — 10 from each state bordering the river, plus the director of the National Park Service.

"Clearly, the (commission) is an idea whose time has come," Simon said in introducing the bill on the Senate floor Aug. 7.

"Now, for our nation's greatest waterway, we seek to create a commission to coordinate and encourage national awareness of its vast resources."

The measure was co-sponsored by Sens. Alan Dixon, D-Ill., John Danforth, R-Mo., Christopher Bond, R-Mo., and 13 others representing the 10 states which border the river.

SIUE professors lose tenure suit

A judge in Alton has ruled in favor of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville in eliminating jobs of three professors, but the professors' attorneys are considering a motion to reconsider the case or an appeal.

Attorney Bruce Goldstein of Edwardsville said further action in the case is possible.

The three filed suit in federal court two years ago, charging their constitutional rights had been violated when the university eliminated their positions.

The suit was filed by Professors James Jacobson, James Stein and Thomas Hughes, who had been teaching at the Delinquency Study and Youth Development Center.

The center, which offered degrees in human services, was ordered closed, and all faculty positions were dropped. The professors said they had a constitutional right to keep their positions since they had been granted tenure.

Long-term family home care needed

Neighbors recently found a Greenville, Ill., man near death because he was depriving himself of food and air conditioning to pay nursing home costs for his wife.

This 60-year-old man has spent $72,000 over the last two years to keep his wife in a nursing home.

Now he must go on welfare and his wife will become a Medicaid recipient. "How sad for America that it treats its elderly citizens this way," his neighbor writes to me.

How sad, indeed. When Social Security was passed 50 years ago, the average American lived to be 58. We now live to 75.

One in nine Americans is 65 or older. By the year 2000, one in five will be 65 or older. There will then be more than 6 million over age 85.

Those figures spell a clear need for providing quality long-term care for seniors without crushing their families with debt.

Every family's situation is different and in some cases nursing home care is necessary. But in other cases, quality care at home would mean independence and an alternative to nursing homes.

Couples who have lived together for decades find themselves separated by a society and government too insensitive to understand the misery and heartache this separation causes.

For example, an older couple lives together and the wife is getting frail. The husband suffers a stroke and cannot bathe or feed himself. She is not able to assist him.

So we now send him to a nursing home, breaking up their home, causing untold misery and major costs. If someone were available to help him, there would be savings in both heartache and dollars.

Congressman Claude Pepper of Florida and I have introduced the Long-Term Home Care Family Protection Act. Our bill encourages more home-based care.

An estimated 30 percent of nursing home residents really don't need institutional care if there were better alternatives. Our proposal is also for those who are at home now but cannot afford the care they need.

Our bill provides senior citizens with the long-term nursing, rehabilitation, personal services and medical supplies they need to stay in their homes without becoming a burden on their families.

But it would not only help seniors. Other disabled persons and children who have been certified by a physician to require significant help with eating, bathing, dressing or other normal activities would also be eligible.

We would pay for the program by lifting the ceiling ($45,000 in 1988) on income subject to the Medicare payroll tax.

We would pay for the program by lifting the ceiling ($45,000 in 1988) on income subject to the Medicare payroll tax.

Those earning more than that would pay 1.45 percent above that amount into the Medicare account. This change would affect only those 5 percent of workers who earn more than $45,000 in individual income (not family income).

Our proposal does not add to the deficit. In fact, it reduces it slightly.

Costs would be controlled by holding the top monthly payments to 75 percent of the monthly Medicare rate for skilled nursing home services.

Franklin Roosevelt led the fight for Social Security to free all Americans from the fear of an old age of poverty and dependence. A quarter century later, John F. Kennedy proposed another great step forward: Medicare.

Today, we face a new challenge. Medicare provides virtually no protection for older Americans who need long-term nursing care, either at home or in nursing homes.

Someday, government will guarantee that people like the gentleman from Greenville don't nearly starve themselves to care for their loved ones.

Hubert Humphrey said it well: "The moral test of government is how that government treats those who are in the dawn of life, the children; those who are in the twilight of life, the elderly; and those who are in the shadows of life — the sick, the needy and the handicapped."

I heard Hubert Humphrey make that statement dozens of times and it always sounded good and right to me. We can and must do better.

Banking era ends, begins

A banking era ended Tuesday afternoon, and another began.

Shareholders of First Granite Bancorporation Inc. overwhelmingly decided to merge the First Granite City National Bank and the Colonial Bank of Granite City into Magna Group Inc.

First Granite City National Bank opened in 1902. Its holding company was organized in 1981 and in 1983 the newer Colonial Bank was acquired. Belleville-based Magna, formed in 1982, dates back to 1874.

With the merger, family names associated with banking here come to mind — Niedringhaus, Dressel, Pershall, Reese, Glik, Wilkins, Rant and many more. Although this was the last meeting of First Granite shareholders, the local officers and directors will continue to serve.

Rapid changes in the banking field have led to many consolidations. Some say it is necessary to have $2 billion in assets to compete effectively with not only the St. Louis area banking giants but also those in Chicago and New York, plus financial services offered by retail chains. Magna expects to attain that size by the end of 1987, aided by Granite City, Wood River, Bloomington and Lincoln acquisitions.

Other authorities say smaller banks also can thrive, and the Quad City Area is blessed with considerable competition. In addition to savings and loan associations and credit unions, the First National Bank in Madison has a long record of service. Omni Bank of Ponton Beach is to be opened next year. And the growing Central Banc System Inc., based in Granite City, includes the American Heritage Bank of Granite City and Central Bank of Granite City, the latter founded in 1910 as the Trust and Savings Bank.

The newest member of the local banking family, Magna, concedes that "managing a multi-bank holding company in this age of deregulation, interstate banking and economic uncertainty is indeed challenging."

Magna Chairman William S. Badgley adds, "We have diligently planned and worked to maximize profits while being careful not to diminish the quality of service nor the strong position we enjoy in the communities we serve. Adding to the foundation of that strategy, several important steps were taken in 1986 to consolidate and reorganize some of our key operations so we can become more efficient at delivering products and services to the marketplace."

Pioneer steelworker dies

I.W. Abel was a man well known here for his major role in establishing the United Steelworkers of America. He died Aug. 10 at his home in Malvern, Ohio, at the age of 78.

Irwin Wilber Abel joined the labor movement during the Depression. As a brickyard worker in Canton, Ohio, in 1930, he earned 16 cents an hour — firing kilns 12 hours a day, seven days a week.

He began organizing workers at steel mills in 1936 and helped start the international steelworkers union in 1942.

Mr. Abel was elected secretary-treasurer in 1952 and United Steelworkers president in 1965, being re-elected in 1969 and 1973. In his 12 years at the union's helm, labor peace prevailed, with production booming and wages and benefits increasing.

Membership peaked at 1,400,000 and there was coordinated bargaining with the 12 leading steelmakers. A no-strike agreement ended uneven production and buying patterns.

In a 1986 interview, Mr. Abel said he felt his greatest accomplishment was campaigning for a federal law to protect employee pensions. AFL-CIO President Kirkland last week called him "a giant of the American labor movement."

Planners had big impact

As the Southwestern Illinois Planning Commission begins its 25th year, its immense favorable impact can be seen in the way this region has grown and changed.

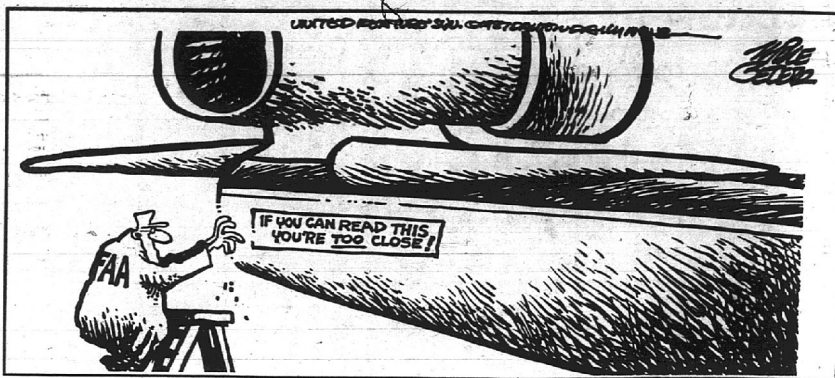

Executive Director Ted Mikesell recalls that a quarter-century ago "the Southwestern Illinois region was simply a conglomeration of a few farsighted individuals. Today, it is an integral part of government operations, by local officials cognizant of the far-reaching benefits of a unified approach to planning and development."

"Intergovernmental agreements, coordination and regionalization for mutual benefit have increasingly been encouraged through state and federal legislation and grant programs requiring an analysis of more cost-effective means of providing certain local public services."

"Through our 110 commissioners, we continue to contribute as much to intergovernmental cooperation today as in those initial years when the idea of a 'region' became a reality."

Planning has expedited such developments as Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, the community college system, Interstate Highways 70 and 255, the new U.S. Highway 50, Carlyle Lake, the replacement Alton lock and dam, port expansions, Scott Air Force Base growth, county transit districts, Horseshoe Lake State Park, the Cahokia Mounds Historic Site, shopping centers, anti-pollution progress, waste disposal, Cahokia and Bethalto airport improvements, construction of the Jefferson Barracks Poplar Street and new Chain of Rocks bridges, acquisition of the Martin Luther King Bridge to link it with the Interstate system, new state and federal office centers, and many new municipal and county buildings.

Believing that "the only constant is change," the commission says Southwestern Illinois not only is much different than in 1963 but is likely to evolve at an even faster pace between now and 2010, "presenting a tremendous opportunity in the meantime to make it better."

10,000 petition against IP, more coming

To the editor:

For the last month I have been petitioning against Illinois Power to lower their electric and gas rates.

With the help of many people working in stores, restaurants, and those wanting to join the fight against higher utility rates, I now have over 10,000 signatures.

This is a sizable number, but it is still not enough. Over the next three to four weeks, I would like to continue petitioning in hopes of gaining at least 25,000 signatures.

I have had people ask me if petitioning the power company will do any good. I tell them that through petitioning you have a voice. The more signatures obtained, the bigger the voice. If the voice is loud enough, the voice will be heard.

This country is supposed to be based on a government for the people and by the people. The way things are today, it appears our country is run by the monopoly, for the monopoly.

What difference can we make? There has been a change made in the basic utility rates because of petitioning, and people calling Illinois Power and the ICC. Instead of paying the 40 percent increase through the four summer months, we will be paying it over a 12-month period. This will make our monthly bill easier to pay but IP won't be losing a thing. We will still be paying the 40 percent increase.

On Thursday, Aug. 27, at 7 p.m. there will be another meeting at the Granite City Township Hall, 21st and Delmar Avenue.

I am asking petitioners, and those wanting to petition, to join me for the meeting. I am also asking petitioners from other towns to contact me so we can set a day and time to take our petitions to Springfield, together.

It is time to stand up for what we believe in and be counted.

If people would like more information, call me at 876-4002.

Congress should do as it preaches

To the editor:

When Lt. Col. Oliver North was on the Congressional hot seat responding to questions about his role in the Iran-Contra affair, he was confronted with an oversized copy of the Boland amendment, complete with President Reagan's signature.

The question put to Col. North — and it was a fair one — was whether he recognized it as the law of the land and acknowledged his obligation to obey it.

Of course, Col. North said yes to both questions and repeated his belief that he had in fact complied with the law.

But while all of us recognize our civic duty to comply with the law, there was something faintly hypocritical about our elected representatives calling attention to it in so dramatic a fashion. For that one fleeting moment, I wish Col. North had come to the hearing prepared to fight fire with fire.

I wish he could have countered with a wall display of his own, a full-length copy of the Byrd amendment of 1981 which requires Congress to balance the federal budget.

Of course, the now-forgotten Byrd amendment included no enforcement mechanism to require Congress to balance the budget. But then the Boland amendment included no enforcement mechanism, either.

The presumption in both cases is that government officials should obey the law with or without an enforcement mechanism.

Next, he could have put up on the screen an oversized copy of the Gramm-Rudman amendment. Then he could have posed a few questions before the joint committee, such as:

Do you see this law enacted by Congress? Aren't you the very people who voted it into law? Do you see the President's signature at the bottom? Is this the law? Do you recognize your obligation as citizens and members of Congress to abide by the law?

And then — after a dramatic pause — he could have reminded the committee that, only a few days before, the congressmen had approved a budget resolution which calls for spending a full $24 billion above the limits imposed by Gramm-Rudman.

It is all well and good that Congress should demand strict accountability, responsibility and adherence to the law by all officials of government. But the "Don't do as I do, do as I say to do" approach is a poor substitute for moral leadership.

The most effective way for our elected representatives to foster legal behavior would be for them to set an example, to practice what they preach.

Women molest men sexually

A generation ago it was the fathers of daughters who most dreaded the dating years. It was little girls who were admonished not to get into cars with strange men. It was little girls who were always visualized as being overpowered and sexually abused.

Now hardly a day goes by but what we hear or read of young boys sexually abused in nursery schools, at scout camps, even by clergy.

Now there is a National Congress for Men dedicated to protecting men and boys.

There is legislation pending in at least one state to "degenderize rape."

Some courts of law are finding it difficult to imagine that a man can be raped by a female. In New Mexico a woman teacher was charged with having intercourse with an underage boy student but the charges were dropped when the judge decreed that the experience was "educational."

On the contrary, some such experiences can be traumatic.

A two-year study by New Jersey Medical School was reported in the American Journal of Psychiatry showing that female-to-male molestation can leave lasting psychological scars.

The majority of both male and female molested subjects found the experience traumatic.

Our cultural double-standard has always assumed the male to be the aggressor, but every day's news tells us this is not the case any longer.

Now we have female motorcycle gangs wlaying male motorists.

In Archives of Sexual Behavior an article called "Sexual Molestation of Men and Women" affirms that Ang Thais are "not yet ready to believe" that this problem exists. Thus, there are few laws enacted to prevent it.

The article cites a case where a young man sought sex therapy as a result of such a molestation experience.

A survey of adolescent male patients at a New Jersey clinic reveals nearly as many cases of sexual molestation by females as by males. And, incidentally, a majority of both males and females found the experience traumatic.

Dr. William Masters says, "Most of the sexual abuse has been committed by older females on young males."

IP's 'lower' rate plan fools no one

To the editor:
As local director of the Illinois Citizens Utility Board, I attended the press conference held by Illinois Power in Belleville on Aug. 16. I was pleased to hear they were going to rescind the new summer differential rate, but I was not fooled or pleased to hear they were going to ask to raise next winter's rate so that they won't be losing any money.
I understand why IP is backing off the humongous summer jump in rates. I now know what is meant by gray power. A septuagenarian from Caseyville just dropped off 10 filled petitions at my house.
Mr. McCord, an octogenarian from Alton, has collected over 8,000 names on petitions. I have had over 80 phone calls from people wanting to circulate petitions. I have already collected over 400 completed petitions and there are still 1,000 circulating, not to mention those that have been Xeroxed because of the tremendous response to this petition drive against IP.

That press conference was held because Illinois Power was reacting to people power. The July announcement of IP wanting another 10 percent increase coming on the heels of the June 15 increase that doubled many bills — this was the "straw that broke the camel's back."
At 7:30 p.m. on Sept. 16, CUB and IPAC (Illinois Public Action Council) will be holding a meeting focusing on what we will be doing to combat any IP rate increase.

The meeting will be held at the VFW Hall on Edwardsville Road in Wood River. I am asking for those people with signed petitions to bring them in to this meeting. Those petitioners unable to make this meeting may simply mail them in to me.

The battle has only begun. We were able to head off the Commonwealth Edison increase in northern Illinois. Now let's stop the IP increase in central and southern Illinois.

Discrimination in grade averages

To the editor:
Double jeopardy is not allowed in the legal profession, but it is at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.
Civil rights are being violated at SIUE with their policy of transferring grades and grade point averages (GPA).
As a teenager in the late '60s, I was a less than serious student. Later, I joined the growing number of returning students in their 30s.
I transferred my SIUE grades and GPA to a community college. My low grade average required serious studying to bring it up to a respectable 3.0 (B).

Grades and degrees from community colleges will transfer to four-year colleges and universities in Illinois, but not grade point averages. SIUE is no exception.
If I had transferred with an associate degree, without attending SIUE, my GPA would be zero.
When I was readmitted to SIUE, it was with the classification of scholastic warning. Office of Admissions personnel insist my original GPA still applies.

This constitutes double jeopardy. I already paid for my "crime" of low grades once, and should not have to pay for them again.

The American Civil Liberties Union and the Department of Education's Office of Civil Rights agree that SIUE discriminates against students with this policy of transferring grades and degrees and the retaining of averages.

Hebrews 2:3... "How shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation?"
How strong in faith you can be if you concentrate your devotion on our great salvation. God knows what we have need of. He knows we are easily tempted. He knows sin abounds around us. He knows our struggles and our stumbles day by day.
God also knows that if we continually dwell on our hardships and our problems, and not on Him, they will become mountains that can't be moved.
God is a mountain-mover. A problem solver. He is able to do exceedingly great things for us, over and above all that we can ask or even think.
Do not neglect to meditate on our great salvation: Christ our Saviour, healer, and helper. Change your situation of defeat to victory by ending neglect.

Beware of a gift horse

To the editor:

The proposal coming out of arms talks with the Soviets — removal of all U.S. and Soviet medium-range missiles from Europe — is a proverbial "gift horse."

We'd better look carefully at this horse's mouth, and the rest of it as well.

The Soviets are chess players and they always have two purposes, one for their opponents to believe, and one in which they are really interested.

The purpose of Gorbachev for public consumption is to show that the Soviets are really nice guys who don't want war.

The real purpose is to break down our alliance with Western Europe, leaving those countries exposed and vulnerable, with the Europeans then having no alternative to a Communist takeover.

The Soviets recognize that these countries aren't depending on their own defenses. They are protected by Uncle Sam, who rescued them in wartime and who still pays for their protection today.

No wonder Western Europe is worried by this latest U.S.-Soviet plan. Western democracies would be outnumbered more than 2-1 if they had to depend on conventional weapons rather than our missiles.

The Europeans may well balk, and there is nothing the Soviets would like more than such a breakdown in our alliance.

If our missiles are withdrawn, they would be an ocean and a continent away. The Soviets could withdraw theirs just miles into their own territory. The "We can blow up one of yours and you can blow up one of ours" theory is childish and misleading propaganda.

This plan is a bad one.

Court restraint or social engineering?

To the editor:

Barring wholly unforeseen revelations, debate on the nomination of Robert Bork will not concern his ability or character.

Those qualifications have not been questioned.

The debate will be about basic philosophy, whether we in the Senate want an activist Supreme Court or one which practices judicial restraint.

Because the Supreme Court has become so important to our people and our communities, I look forward to a vigorous debate on the philosophical question.

Because Judge Bork has been a strong advocate of judicial restraint, I intend to support his nomination with enthusiasm.

How one feels about the power and reach of the Supreme Court is, of course, a political issue. Walter Mondale correctly stressed this in 1984 when he insisted that presidential campaigns are about who will appoint justices to the Supreme Court.

It should also be said that Senate campaigns are about who will confirm justices to the Supreme Court.

Clearly, judicial philosophy is on the mind of a President when he sends a name to the Senate, and judicial philosophy is on the mind of each senator when he votes on a Supreme Court nomination.

Of the eight remaining justices of the Supreme Court, three will be over the age of 80 during the next presidential term. In all probability, the next President and the next Senate will determine the make-up of the court for decades to come.

Few presidential decisions are more important to the daily lives of citizens than Supreme Court nominations. Few Senate votes are more important to local communities than Supreme Court confirmations.

Ultimately the issue of judicial philosophy is for the people to consider and for the people to decide at the polls.

The hearings and the debate on the Bork nomination will put the question squarely to the American people: What do YOU think about the power and reach of the Supreme Court?

It is fitting that the debate on basic judicial philosophy should coincide with the bicentennial of our Constitution, for the great constitutional issue was the limitations and locus of governmental power.

Precisely the same issue will be before the Senate when we vote on the nomination of Judge Bork.

The question will be the extent to which legislatures can define and enforce community values versus the readiness of the Court to set aside legislative action as unconstitutional.

Since the early years of our Republic, the Congress and state legislatures have been the implementors of community values, but they have been limited in their exercise of power by the Constitution.

The question is whether the Supreme Court strictly construes constitutional language, thereby allowing broad discretion to legislatures, or gives the constitution an expansive interpretation, thereby contracting legislative discretion.

As Judge Bork puts the problem: "The courts must be energetic to protect the right of individuals, but they must also be scrupulous not to deny the majority's legitimate right to govern."

For example, the Court must continue to safeguard important individual rights such as the right to racial equality protected by cases like Brown v. Board of Education; however, the Court should not engage in broad social engineering, which encroaches upon the domain of the legislature.

Judge Bork forcefully comes down on the side of strict construction. He believes the Supreme Court should heed the plain meaning of constitutional language and that it should not invent novel or strained interpretations of clear language in order to replace the policies of elected legislatures with its own. In Judge Bork's words:

"When the judiciary imposes upon democracy limits not to be found in the constitution, it deprives Americans of a right that is found there, the right to make the laws to govern themselves."

As courts intervene more frequently to set aside majoritarian outcomes, they teach the lesson that democratic processes are suspect, essentially unprincipled and untrustworthy.

Some believe that a nominee's personal opinions on a range of social issues should be ascertained before he is placed on the Supreme Court.

My own view is that a judge's personal opinions on questions such as abortion should be irrelevant.

Supreme Court justices should not be in the business of supplanting the policies of Congress or of state legislatures with their own political or social views.

Public policy should be made by those who are elected by the people, report to the people and who can be removed by the people. It should not be made by men and women who have been elected by no one, who are isolated in courthouses and who serve for life.

The Supreme Court should be in the business of interpreting the law written by elected representatives. It should not be in the business of creating new law out of whole cloth.

Since 1981, I have had the privilege of recommending seven presidential nominees for nomination to the United States District Court.

I have asked each person I have recommended to take a position on the relative roles of the judicial and legislative branches of government.

I do not want a judge who sees his role as an opportunity to impose his own personal opinions on the public, even when I agree with those opinions.

To ideologues of the left or right, it is tempting to select an activist judiciary which will be ready to shove unpopular social policies down the throats of an unwilling public. That is an elitist position which is repugnant to the democratic tradition of our country.

The Bork nomination is about democracy versus elitism.

It is about philosophy of the judiciary and about philosophy of government. It is about fundamental questions which will be debated before the nation in this bicentennial year of our Constitution.

Those fundamental questions will be voted on first in the United States Senate, and then by the people themselves.

Area independent TV stations mum on fall lineup

By William Scott Simon
Journal correspondent

It's been said the backbone of American business is competition. But the competition between the KPLR-TV (Channel 11) and KIDN-TV (Channel 30) could be the best kept secret of the ongoing plot of a James Bond movie.

The new fall television schedules are just a month away, and the program departments at both stations are being secretive. Both stations have plenty of first-run shows but neither will say on what days or times these shows will air.

Howard Stevens, the program director at Channel 11, and Bob West, the program director at Channel 30, said they don't want to reveal their stations' lineup schedules because each does not want to give the other station the benefit of counter-programming.

Stevens said new syndicated offerings on Channel 11 this fall include "Cheers" and "Family Ties," both current smashes on NBC-TV (Channel 5). Other new shows on Channel 11 will be "We Got It Made," with Teri Copley; "Out of This World," with Doug McClure and Donna Pescow; "She's the Sheriff," featuring Suzanne Somers; and "Bustin' Loose," with J.J. Walker.

Two new shows with familiar titles debut on Channel 11 — "New Monkees" and "Seahunt."

West said new syndicated programs on Channel 30 include "A Team," with George Peppard and Mr. T, and "Webster," a current hit on ABC-TV. Other debuts on Channel 30 will include "Punky Brewster," "The All-New Dating Game," "New American Bandstand," "You Can't Take It with You," and

"At the Movies," with Rex Reed and Bill Harris.

There will be more new shows announced in upcoming weeks, including those from Channels 2, 4 and 5.

"M*A*S*H" reruns on Channel 2 will be moved from its customary 10:30 p.m. weekday slot beginning Sept. 21. The announcement was made on the air Monday by general manager Wayne Thomas. He said ABC-TV's "Nightline," now airing at 11 p.m., will move to the 10:30 p.m. slot. No mention was made if "M*A*S*H" will move to 11 or will leave Channel 2's schedule.

WHAT'S HAPPENING: WBGZ-AM (1570) in Alton recently has begun broadcasting day and night. The station had been restricted to be on the air during daytime hours only under an agreement the United States had with Mexico, Cuba and Canada pertaining to radio regulations.

WRYT, a new AM station licensed to Edwardsville, won't be on the air until Sept. 15. It's the third start-up delay for the station set to broadcast at 1080, with a daytime authorization of 500 watts.

Station owner Robert Howe said that while tower construction has begun, the building of the studios is two weeks behind schedule.

Mike O'Connor, who resigned recently at KXOK-AM (630), returned to KMOX last weekend as a news anchor, replacing Bill Reker, who left to become program director at WRYT.

HOCKEY HAPPENINGS: The Blues' radio broadcast announcers still have not been decided.

Dan Kelly's status remains the same. He is under contract for three more years to KXOK, the former Blues radio outlet. However, a pending suit against the station by Kelly for breach of contract could release him for his 20th season on Blues radio.

KMOX will be broadcasting the games after a two-year hiatus. The rights are held by Bud Sports, a subsidiary of Anheuser-Busch.

Tom Barton, executive producer of Bud Sports and Robert Hyland, KMOX general manager, said they couldn't comment on Kelly's availability until the suit is settled.

Meanwhile, Kelly remains busy. He has begun his play-by-play duties for Cardinals football exhibition games on Channel 11. At the end of the month, Kelly will broadcast the Canada Cup hockey tournament on CTV, a Canadian television network.

Kelly said he is scheduled to broadcast Blues games on Channel 11, and will be broadcasting selected NHL games on CTV.

"Sure, I'd like to be on the radio," Kelly said. "But I won't be out of work—I'll have plenty to do."

FOOTBALL FABLES: KMOX has not announced who its second announcer on Cardinals football will be. Zip Rzeppa was named by the station after one year.

Bill Wilkerson returns to do the play-by-play.

More mortgages offered

The fourth in a series of low-interest mortgage programs for first-time home buyers was announced Aug. 14 by Gov. James R. Thompson when he introduced Illinois Home Builder IV.

It is a $71.6 million program offering a below-market interest of 6.35 percent to first-time home buyers in Illinois.

Sponsored by the Illinois Housing Development Authority (IHDA), the program offers a 28-year, fixed-rate mortgage to first-time home buyers with a loan closing fee of one point. The program is limited to new construction and participating home builders.

The program has already proven that Build Illinois bonding authority is an effective means to provide low-interest mortgages," Thompson said.

"Record numbers of builders are participating, which also means that more construction jobs will be created."

Home Builder IV will help build 750 new homes and create 1,500 man-years of employment in the housing construction industry. A man-year is a housing term equal to one person working for one year on a project.

In addition, more than $1.25 million in new local property taxes will be generated from homes built by the program.

"The Home Builder Program is a good idea that has become a great idea," said IHDA Director Jim Kiley.

To take advantage of Home Builder IV, interested first-time buyers must first contact a participating home builder and secure a contract for construction. From there, the potential home buyer will be directed to a mortgage lender.

Home buyers must meet the standard IHDA mortgage application requirements, which include:

*First-time home buyers, or persons who have not owned a home as a principal residence in the past three years.

*Annual gross household income of no more than $38,880.

*An acceptable credit history.

The purchase price of the home must fall within certain limits. They are:

*A $125,000 purchase price limit in the Chicago area (Cook, DePage, Kane, Kendall, Lake and McHenry counties).

*$105,490 in the Metro East area (Clinton, Jersey, Madison, St. Clair and Monroe counties).

*$53,130 for the rest of Illinois, a limit that is subject to change.

The 43 home builders in the program had to meet legal and financial requirements before being accepted by IHDA.

For more information about the program, IHDA's toll-free hotline operates from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, and can be reached from anywhere in Illinois by dialing 1-800-942-8439.

Local bus service

ST. LOUIS — Transit districts in Madison and St. Clair Counties have come to "full agreement" on three-year contracts with the Bi-State Development Agency for bus service in the Illinois districts.

The three-year period is a major breakthrough. It provides stability," Bi-State Executive Director R. Raleigh D'Adamo said.

Thompson axes raises

Gov. James R. Thompson has vetoed a bill that would have increased by $5,000 the annual salaries of regional and 67 assistant regional superintendents of schools in Illinois. Raises have not been granted for those positions for the last four years.

Light-rail system

WASHINGTON — An agreement to fund the proposed St. Louis area MetroLink light-rail system may be signed in early November, an Urban Mass Transportation Administration (UMTA) official said Friday.

Smoke detectors required

SPRINGFIELD — Illinois Gov. James R. Thompson on Aug. 14 signed the state's first comprehensive legislation requiring immediate installation of smoke detectors in all new and substantially remodeled dwellings — and installation of the devices in all dwellings by July 1, 1988.

House Bill 3, signed by the governor at a ribbon-cutting ceremony for Firehouse 10 at the Illinois State Fairgrounds, is designed to decrease fire-related deaths caused by smoke inhalation, particularly in apartment and multi-family dwellings.

"Fire and smoke are indiscriminate killers," said Thompson. "Each year they claim 6,000 lives in the United States and cause millions of dollars in damage to property."

"This legislation, while applicable to all households in Illinois, is aimed particularly at apartment and multi-family dwellings, where the greatest number of fire-related tragedies occur."

"By requiring landlords to install smoke detectors, we will bring a higher degree of protection to those least able to afford ownership of homes and apartments — namely the elderly and the poor."

In rental units, it is the landlords' responsibility to install and repair smoke detectors. Tenants are responsible for maintenance, including periodic testing and battery replacement.

The legislation provides Class B misdemeanor penalties for non-compliance with the law. Tampering with installed detectors could result in a Class A misdemeanor for a first conviction and a Class 4 felony for subsequent convictions.

The law is effective immediately.

William E. Baylor, president of the Illinois Fire Chiefs' Association and chief of the Rockford fire department, said it has the full support of fire service organizations statewide.

"This Act offers the benefits that only early fire detection can give," said Baylor. "Early detection saves lives, reduces property damage and lessens the danger of the firefighter's job."

"The average smoke detector costs about $10. That's a small price to pay for saving lives and protecting the safety of your home."

Thompson said household smoke detectors were the result of technology developed at the Illinois Institute of Technology, and Illinois currently is the largest manufacturer of smoke detectors in the world.

Thompson also cut a ribbon to open officially the new firehouse on the State Fairgrounds. The $88,000 facility houses a Springfield Fire Department crew of four and a captain. Two fire trucks will be stationed permanently at the firehouse to answer alarms on the Fairgrounds and the surrounding district.

During each State Fair at Springfield, the facility will house a crew of eight firefighters and the State Fair security detail. The new 9,000-square foot firehouse was designed to blend in aesthetically with the architecture on the fairgrounds.

The firehouse contains a living/dining area, administrative offices, a joint classroom/bedroom area and a large garage. It replaces the original firehouse, built in 1938.

Be prepared for a pennant race

It all looked so easy about a month ago.

The Cardinals swept a three-game series at Dodger Stadium on July 21-23. It was the first time they had done that since 1974 and they left Chavez Ravine with a 9½-game lead in the National League East.

They had done it without John Tudor for most of the year and almost everyone else had spent some time out of the lineup. Everyone was close to getting healthy and it appeared possible the Cardinals could run away and hide.

But they lost all four games in San Francisco, then were swept at home by the Mets. Since then they have sputtered and fumbled, unable to gain momentum. The 9½-game bulge has shrunk to three games (before Wednesday's action) and things seem uneasy.

Although run production has been a problem in recent weeks, it's still the pitching — or the lack of same — that will hurt Whaley, Herzog, Tudor and Dan Cox. They have returned and have pitched rather well. Bob Forsch continues to be the consummate old pro. But Joe Magrane and Greg Mathews have been uneven, as young pitchers tend to be.

The middle relief is sub-par and Todd Worrell is not having a good enough year. Worrell is a one player who has to have a great year if the Cardinals are to win. That's a lot of pressure, but such is the life of the short reliever.

The pitching is not a complete mess. If the Cardinals again start scoring like they were in the first half of the year, everything could be fine. But the runs get a little harder to come by in September. And even in this Year of the Hitter, a slight return to the low-scoring games seems to be happening.

The pitchers they have will have to get better in the next 10 days or else Dai Maxvill and Herzog might have to deal for another hurler. Picking up one who can help you at this time of year is usually very costly to your minor league system, however.

Much has been made of the advantageous schedule. After this weekend, 26 of the 39 games are at home. But the Cardinals' play at Busch Stadium has been uneven although they are still 34-21 there. And both competitors — the Expos and the Mets — have won their home games in the shadow of the Arch. That could be critical when you look at the last seven games on the schedule, four with the Expos and three with the Mets at Busch Stadium.

And what about the competition? The Mets have proved to be as resilient as can be. They have withstood several distractions and injuries to make Dave Johnson's Royals commercials very appropriate. But here they are hot on the trail.

The Mets have some problems, though. They still are looking for some pitching to return and their bullpen has been shaky. Gary Carter's knee is again a troublesome. And that difficulty teams have in trying to repeat is so persistent that it has to be a factor.

What about the Expos? For years in the late '70s and early '80s they were the team to beat. No one is better than these guys, people said of the crew which included Steve Rogers, Bill Guzikson, Andre Dawson, Gary Carter, Tim Lincecum, Warren Cromartie and Al Oliver.

Yet they never did it with the exception of the strike year (1981). Finally, this was the year all that promise was gone. There was hardly any talent left and the Expos were supposed to bottom out. But Buck Rodgers has done a job managing a team that has much more talent than it was given credit for.

Rainey's return was the key, and with Andres Galaraga, Hubie Brooks, Tim Lincecum, Vance Law and Mitchell Webster, there is plenty of offense and adequate defense. Pitching — of course — is the key, and it's uncertain how well the Montreal staff will hold up, although the bullpen has done quite famously since the Jeff Reardon trade.

It's too close to call, although the Cardinals still have the edge because of their lead. A three-game lead might not seem much after the glory days of July. But a three-game edge in 1985 was a rare occurrence until very late.

After all is said and done, the key performers will be the short relief men, Worrell, Jesse Orosco and the Expos' bullpen by committee will make the difference.

Get ready for a good old-fashioned pennant race.

Run for glory

NO PAIN, NO GAIN: There's nothing like a few wind sprints on a typically humid August day in Granite City. These are just a few of the hopefuls looking for a berth on the Warrior soccer team testing their endurance in one of the first workouts of the fall practice season.

Smith, Trojans hoping for better fate in 1987

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

MADISON — Give Don Smith a chance to coach and find out how good he can do.

Smith enters his fifth year as the head football coach at Madison High School with a 17-17 overall mark. That included a disappointing 4-5 finish in 1986 — a season that promised much better things early on.

"We should have beaten Waterloo and we should have beaten Dupu," Smith said. "That would have left us at 6-3 and a chance at the playoffs."

But the Trojans were anubished at Waterloo in the third week of the season on a hot afternoon by a Bulldog team that used trick plays for a 28-0 win.

Then came the cruncher. On a Friday night at Sam Dymas Memorial Field, the Trojans, then 3-1, were locked in an 8-0 tie with Dupu as a torrential downpour reduced the game to a mudwrestling match. An apparent bad snap on a punt by the Tigers appeared to result in a Trojan touchdown when they recovered in the end zone.

But an inadvertent whistle brought about a changed call by the officials. Not only wasn't it a touchdown, but Dupu was given nine additional yards and was allowed to punt again. Dupu won a 16-8 win and the Trojans lost four of their last five.

"I never did get a real good explanation of that play," said Smith, who still gets a little angry thinking about it. "But that play and that game really hurt the morale of the whole team. We went downhill after that."

A few injuries here and there plus some bad report cards meant the loss of key players like Ricky Ball and Stephan Boyd and things bottomed out with a 54-0 loss to Freeburg.

"We had some young players who were put in the lineup and given one day to practice after the others were suspended because of grades," Smith said. "They sucked it up and beat Flora the next week, but those other things hurt us."

The key this year is to keep everyone healthy and eligible. The Trojans lose Angelo Cross (868 yards) from the backfield, but there is plenty of talent returning there.

"We've got about 15 running backs out," Smith said. "Guys like Ball and Derrick Treadway have a chance to do well. And Quincy Williams is back at quarterback."

Another possible find in the backfield is Ian Smith, who won the state title in the 400 meter run last spring.

"He should give us a lot of quickness out of the backfield and he can catch the ball," Smith said.

Smith said the Trojans might not be as big this year, but he hopes all the quickness can pay off. Instead of relying on the I formation with Cross at fullback, Madison will use the quickness to run more sweeps. Smith also said the Trojans will throw the ball a little more. Williams was a second-team all-area player at quarterback and on defense.

"We've got some big freshmen coming in, too," Smith said. "I hope we can develop them and have a good line here for a couple of years. I would rather get some younger guys with some ability in the lineup so we can build for the future."

Vincent Valentine and Fred Strauthers are players Smith is hoping will anchor the line play. Another weak point last year was the kicking game. But Robbie Poston returns for another year and Smith said he has improved in his punting and will also work on extra points and field goals. Smith also wants to get one of the soccer players to handle the kickoff chores.

The Trojans have a chance to get off to another good start with Vandalia, Columbia and Waterloo the first three weeks. The big games will again be at Dupu (Oct. 2) and a home game with East St. Louis Assumption Oct. 23.

"Assumption will be very good, plus I heard they have added some guys that were at Belleville Altoff," Smith said. "But we have always played them tough here."

Channel 11 gets Cardinals

By Wm. Scott Simon

Channel 11 general manager Barry Baker was out of town and could not be reached for comment.

All five commercial TV stations in St. Louis submitted a closed bid to the Cardinals for the TV rights. Area broadcast executives said the three-year bid by Channel 11 could be approximately $7.5 million.

Those same executives said Channel 5 paid approximately $5 million for the rights the last three years.

Channel 11 plans to telecast at least 55 road games per year, up from the 45 scheduled by Channel 5 this season. The Cardinals play 81 road contests a year.

The only games KPLR can't televise without special permission from the team are the 81 home games and Monday night and Saturday afternoon games, which potentially could be televised nationally under Major League Baseball's contract with ABC and NBC.

The change also means the status of Jay Randolph as a Cardinal broadcaster is in question.

The change also means the status of Jay Randolph as a Cardinal broadcaster is in question.

Randolph, who has anchored Cardinal telecasts since 1972, is employed by Anheuser-Busch for the telecasts, but works for Channel 5 as a sportscaster.

The brewery will retain the right to employ the baseball announcers on Channel 11 which means Randolph, who is well-liked by key executives at Anheuser-Busch, could be retained for Cardinal telecasts.

It's questionable that Channel 5 management would allow him to anchor on their newscasts and be seen often on a competing station, although this conflict has been overcome in several other cities.

The financial picture of Cardinal baseball for the two stations also presents an interesting contrast as well as a possible explanation for the switch.

Televising live sporting events is costly — sometimes unprofitable. Coupling a seven-figure rights fee with production costs that reach close to $1 million a year is an expensive commitment.

Bauman wins at Tri-City

By Joe Senter
Correspondent

GRANITE CITY — Ed Bauman took another U.M.P. late model stock car feature event Saturday at Tri-City Speedway.

Len Gittimer, an ex-USAC late model stock car driver, jumped into the lead from his front row starting position and led for the first six laps, holding off a charging Bauman. Bauman passed Gittimer and went the balance of the 25-lap event with last year's track champion Mike Wallace hot on his tail.

Wallace tried high and low to make a pass on Bauman but just couldn't get the job done and had to settle for second place. Gittimer was third, followed by Ray Embling, Bo Smith and Joe Cooksey.

Wallace won the first heat race followed by Smith. Gittimer won the second heat followed by Embling.

"Iron Man" Mike Hammerle and Bo Smith traded off positions as Hammerle eventually won the modified feature event with Smith second. In the heat race, Smith won with Hammerle second.

Hammerle, driving his Matt Johnson sponsored modified carrying the famous Matt Johnson racing engine builder's yellow #16, wasted no time in getting the new car acquainted with the checked flag. Ron Taylor Jr. followed by Lou Thery Jr., Ken Faust and Terry Cox.

Taylor won the other heat race driving the Darren Roach prepared #3. He was followed by Faust.

Gary Archambault added another feature victory in the sportsman's cars. Archambault drove his Nulynski house car #N-1 to beat out a large field of competitors. Mike Seets was second followed by Don Carter, Steve Quartermore, Tom Seets and Bob Stanton.

John Seets, Jake Seets, Archambault and George Carroll all took heat races.

John Stanton won the street stock car feature, followed by Pee Wee Morris, Tony Fraizer and Granite City's own Mel Perkins.

Don McElroy, Morris, Bill Patton and Rick Carter all won heat races.

Banks again the hero as Chiefs top Dow, 4-2

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

Praise be to Chester Banks. That's what Dennis Gurkin must find himself saying quite often these days. The Granite City Chiefs manager is hoping his team can put on a late surge and finish with a winning record in 3-M League play. Without Banks, it's unlikely that would happen.

Banks' value was clearly demonstrated in Sunday's 4-2 win at Dow. The Chiefs trailed 2-0 until the eighth when Bruce Nix and Dennis Gurkin Jr. reached base for Banks, who drove both of them in with a double.

They battled on until the 12th when Gurkin singled again and Banks ripped his seventh homer of the year for the win.

"Chester is just tremendous," Gurkin said. "He's the best player in the league again."

Gurkin has said that many times, but Banks has been a one-man wrecking crew for the Chiefs. He was missing last week when Granite City was routed by Worden, but he carried the load at Dow.

"The key to the game really was that they had one good pitcher available and we had three," Gurkin said. "Darrel Harris pitched eight strong innings, and they didn't get anything off Chester for two innings. Then Dominic Griffin came in to pitch the last two innings and he shut them down."

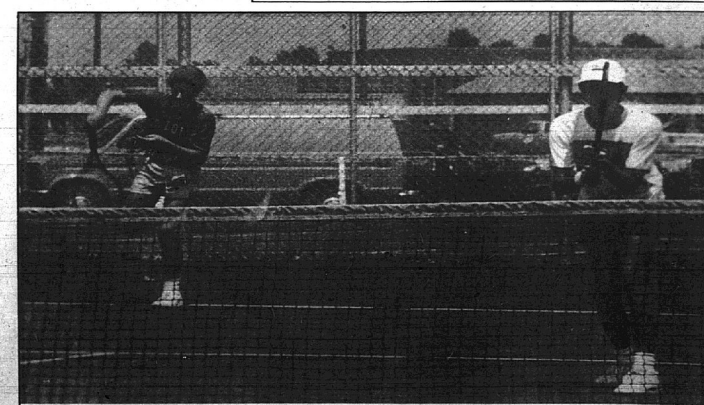

Griffin got the win in relief, while Dow's Don Stearns had to go all 12 innings. Banks and Co. finally got to him. Harris, meanwhile, allowed only one earned run in eight innings. He fanned seven and walked two. The Chiefs outlast Dow 11-9.

Dow got a leadoff homer in the first and another run in the fourth, but that was all. Banks Gurkin Jr. Griffin and Stanton all had two hits for the Chiefs.

"I said a couple of weeks ago I wanted to make Banks the cleanup spot so he could get more RBI chances," Gurkin said. "And he sure did it in this game."

Banks has seven home runs in only 11 games and has driven in 19 runs while his average is

Midget champions

SCHERMER'S MEN'S SHOP baseball team won the Granite City Park District's Midget 1 (12-year-olds) championship Aug. 12. Schermer's, coached by Ken Hicks, scored five runs in the seventh inning against the Redbirds, coached by Chris Lufman, to break a 5-5 tie and go on to an 11-5 win. Chris McCullough had a big two-run triple in the decisive inning. Shawn Sheikh was the winning pitcher, allowing only one hit and fanning five in three innings.

Blues plan open house

It will be a carnival atmosphere when St. Louis Blues hockey fans of the past, present and future gather to take part in an Open House from 1 to 4 p.m. Aug. 23 at The Arena.

"The fans of St. Louis Blues hockey have been the lifeblood of our organization for 20 years," said Blues president Jack Quinn. "It's a bond which has grown strong through the years and we feel this open house will further enhance that love affair."

Present, past and prospective season ticket holders and their guests are invited to attend the open house, which will offer fans the chance to purchase choice seats for the 1987-88 season. Each seat which isn't currently claimed by a season ticket holder will be tagged and made available to fans in attendance. Members of the Blues' sales staff will be on hand to escort fans as they pick out their preferred seats for the upcoming season.

around 550. "Our top three hitters are all good at getting on base, so Chester can clean up," Gurkin said. The win broke a four-game losing streak for the Chiefs and left them at 5-7 with four games to play. They host Standard City at 2 p.m. at Dal Maxwell Field on Sunday.

"We're still shooting for 9-7, and a win like this one sure makes everybody feel good," Gurkin said.

Other participants besides the Blues and KMOX Radio include KPLR-TV (Channel 11). For more information on the Open House, call 314-781-5300.

Graham, Cougars missing out on Hogans

I've been reporting on sports since the 1927-28 school year. That's a long time. In fact, that was about the time Charles Lindbergh was thrilling the world by flying solo across the Atlantic Ocean — in just 36 hours.

All those years I was told by my editors to never let myself get involved more than professionally with any of the players I reported on. It was almost as hard and fast a rule as never cheering in the press box.

Yesterday, however, I picked up the student newspaper from SIUE. The top story in the sports section was on the upcoming Cougar basketball season.

Local fans, of course, know all about Larry Graham's brilliant coaching record at Madison High School. His success was so terrific that he annually made reservations for March in Campaign at the Inman Hotel for the state finals.

Judging by what he's done at SIUE — twice taking his cagers to the NCAA Division II tournament — Graham is on the verge of building a dynasty at Edwardsville. Last year, his Cougars began drawing near-capacity crowds at the Vandalbene Center.

Having lost big John Edwards and four other key players to graduation, Graham is in the process of rebuilding. And I'm sure he'll be successful. But even so, I'm unhappy about it all.

Sports of All Sorts

By Al Barnes

Graham didn't sign two of the more exciting prep players from this area whom I firmly believe would have aided the program. That would be the Hogan twins of Granite City, Tim and Jamie.

In talking to Graham, he said the Hogans were indeed outstanding players, but he wondered if they were big enough to play college ball.

I think both Hogans — who have always been winners — have the ability to hit the three-point baskets, which is a reason to recruit them both. In addition, the Cougars would also hit the jackpot. Both are outstanding baseball players.

SIUE baseball coach Bo Collins frequently had them scouted during this past year.

Unfortunately, SIUE doesn't field a football team. The Hogans are better-than-average gridirers, though maybe not as brilliant as the grandfather, John, who was everyone's all-state gridirer his senior year (1942).

I believe that both Hogans would have a good chance to break into the SIUE cage lineup as freshmen. Both are good ball-handlers, both can drive to the basket and there is no doubt both are consummate team players.

But I would just like to have seen them play at the Vandalbene Center and at Roy Lee Field for the next four years.

And by the way, the 1987-88 Cougar basketball schedule will be an exciting one. First up will be a game against Harry Statham's McKendree College Bearcats at home Nov. 21. And the first road game will provide the Cougars with a chance to show their near miss against their big brothers at SIU-Carbondale last year wasn't a fluke.

A three-point shot by the Saluki's Doug Novsek tied the game which Carbondale won in overtime.

- KPLR

Channel 5's telecasts of Cardinal baseball meant pre-empting NBC-TV programming. NBC has been the top-rated network the last three years. The local newscasts, also ranked first in the St. Louis market in recent years, have also been pre-empted often. KSDK is paid by NBC-TV to air its programs, with the amount determined by the program's rating. Commercial time sold by the local station, combined with lower production/engineering costs for airing network programs, can result in more prof-

But for Channel 11, the cost difference between airing regular programs and Cardinal baseball is minimal. KPLR must pay for all its programs. Feature movies, aired primarily during the five rating periods each year, can cost a station between $5,000 and $15,000 — about the same cost of telecasting a Cardi-

The difference in advertising prices between Channel 5 and Channel 11 should not be that noticeable to their clients. Ad rates are based on ratings and the number of network affiliates. Channel 11 may charge a higher rate for Cardinal baseball if the ratings are higher than regular programming and depending on the success of the team on the field.

Channel 11 joins the long list of independent stations nationwide adding sports to their regular programming schedule. Besides Channel 5, only Pittsburgh, San Diego, Cincinnati, and Baltimore have network-affiliated stations carrying its local team's games.

Channel 11's growth, with the addition of Cardinals baseball, will result in more viewers — and other stations will monitor its future moves very closely.
